

For quality and reliability, choose a Helifix Approved Installer

- ✓ Reliable, fully trained installers
- ✓ Design support from Helifix
- ✓ Insurance-backed warranties

HELIFIX, the originator of the one-piece stainless steel helical tie, is a leading specialist in the design and manufacture of construction ties, fixings and reinforcements. With considerable engineering experience and expertise, Helifix has developed an extensive range of non-disruptive and fully concealed masonry repair techniques that overcome virtually all commonly occurring structural faults in most building materials.

Helifix has been established for over 30 years and operates a network of Approved Installers throughout Australia and New Zealand.

Helifix Approved Installers can undertake site surveys and ensure products are installed correctly to achieve their optimum performance. The products and installation are supported by insurance-backed warranties.

By choosing a Helifix Approved Installer you ensure that products are installed correctly, to achieve their optimum performance, and high levels of quality control are maintained.

There are many advantages to using a Helifix Approved Installer:

“We chose to use a Helifix Approved Installer based on their high standards of installation and expertise which resulted in a fast, efficient and economical solution. With the structure fully secured, we were able to proceed with the project without any major contract delays.”
